

Aaargh!

Would you Adam and Eve it?

Just as everything is starting to run (almost) smoothly we get a major permission problem on the site that knocks out everything – including the Coventry REVS site and my work's site!

It's going to take a while to get everything back up and running and I'm going as fast as I can!

The site is so big now (over 2.2Gb) it's impossible to keep track of every little script so please let me know if anything you come across doesn't work as expected as I may not have realised that particular aspect is still broken.

Phil.
